Private & Confidential

Dear Sir,

As my brother in-law, Dr. Bleek, is not very well, he has asked me to write to you for him, and to thank you very much for your kind and welcome letter, & for all that you have sent - & he received the two pamphlets safely, also the 1st No. of the Archiv's which you sent for the library. Dr. Bleek thanks you much for these and for your photographs, which gave him much pleasure. & very much also for all your kind trouble for him

Dr. Bleek is not thinking of writing extending to revisit Europe yet awhile at present; if he should be able to do so later, he will have very much pleasure in making your personally acquaintance, & he thanks you much for your kind expressions on the subject. For nearly a year he has (as far as his strength allows) had at work upon the Bushman language - the Govt having kindly allowed him to have us, & there are

Dear Sir

I write at the request of my brother-in-law Dr. Fleeck, who is now very unwell with a severe attack of his usual complaint, and therefore unable to write himself. He has sent me a letter which he received from Rhode Island, & which I enclose for the perusal of the Society. I am sorry to say that the contents of the letter are of a very melancholy character. Dr. Fleeck has been for many years in a very delicate state of health, & has frequently been obliged to winter in the South of France, or Italy. I am sorry to say that the Archaeological Society has lost in him a very zealous member, & one who was always ready to assist in forwarding its objects. I am sure that all the members will sympathize with me in regretting the loss we have sustained by the death of our friend.

Yours very truly

in regard to the Library of the Society. Dr. Fleeck would send us gladly any journals that were worthy your inspection, and we have no newspaper or magazine published here of any general interest, at present, I regret to say.

The paper "On the Position of the Etruscan Language" was read at the meeting of the Royal Archaeological Institute at Liverpool last year, by Dr. Fleeck (Secretary) I hope that by this time you may have seen it. At present he has not received a single copy, of it himself.

My dear Sir,

Very sincerely Lucy C. Lloyd.

With Dr. Bleek's very kind compliments to you, I have the honor to remain, My dear Sir

Bushman prisoners from our convict station for the purpose of learning their language. The poor little fellows (who were only imprisoned for petty stealing) have behaved very well and quietly with us, never having attempted to make their escape - And I really think that they have become in a degree attached to the family. Dr. Bleek will enclose you a photograph of the elder, one - in whose characteristic and intelligent face I think you will be interested. The Bushman language is very difficult to learn - but extremely interesting. I wish you could hear some particular words & sentences, which are like nothing I have ever heard except the chattering of Monkeys in the bush in Natal. I am about to venture to make one request of your kindness, which is this, when you next write to Dr. Bleek, would it trouble you much if you would write in a little larger hand? I studied Italian for some little time in England, when a girl but I have forgotten much, & am not sufficiently familiar with it now, to decypher without difficulty a handwriting where I cannot feel certain of all the letters in the words. (I must explain that I have the honour of trying to translate your letters for Dr. Bleek). And if it would not be too troublesome for you to write (when you write to him) in a little larger hand, I shd be very grateful. I have read your Archives with very great interest. Dr. Bleek hopes to enclose some photographs in this letter;
