Dear Mother

I have just received your letter of the 10th and was very glad to hear from you.

I am well and hope this finds you the same.

I have not much news to write at present.

I am sure you will be glad to hear from me.

Handwritten text in a cursive script, likely a letter or a journal entry. The text is written in dark ink on aged, slightly discolored paper. The handwriting is fluid and somewhat slanted, characteristic of 18th or 19th-century cursive. The text is arranged in several paragraphs, with some lines being more prominent than others. There are some ink smudges and small holes in the paper, suggesting age and handling. The overall tone of the document is historical and personal.

Handwritten text, likely bleed-through from the reverse side of the page. The text is mirrored and includes various words and phrases, some of which are partially legible. The handwriting is cursive and appears to be from the 19th or early 20th century. The text is organized into several paragraphs, with some lines starting with capital letters. The overall appearance is that of a letter or a journal entry.
